FROM THE OFFICE OF JAMES COLBERT, JR.—SUPERINTENDENT

Of Note...

I began this week with a meeting of my Executive Leadership Team as we forecasted for the next fiscal year. As you are aware, we are in the midst of budget planning for the next fiscal year. At the conclusion of our work, during this phase of the process, we anticipate presenting the Board with a fiscally sound budget.

I continue my ongoing meetings with the superintendents of our client districts within Harris County to ensure that the Department is meeting, if not exceeding, the needs of our client school districts. The services we provide school districts are immeasurable and it is imperative that we keep our fingers on the pulses of our client superintendents.

On Tuesday, I traveled to Austin for my commitment to the UIL as a member of the State Executive Board. The meeting was held all day Wednesday. As I have mentioned in previous issues of The Connector, it serves as an excellent platform for HCDE to receive visibility through my affiliation with this statewide entity. Today, I attended agenda review, as well as other Department meetings.

In the area of teaching and learning, this week we facilitated the following workshops and training sessions for Harris County educators to advance public education: National Incident Management System (NIMS) ICS 300; Educator Certification and Professional Advancement Career Choice Recruitment Seminar; Test Prep Series or TExES Core Subjects EC-6 Exam (#291)- Science Sessions ONLY; School Finance Council; and Academic Moves for College and Career Readiness.

Next week, the Human Resources division is hosting a mandatory training session for directors, managers, and principals regarding discrimination and harassment. I will also be attending this workshop that ensures that we maintain an equitable environment, and one that is free of harassment for all employees.

Additionally, the Texas Alliance of Black School Educators conference will be held here in Houston beginning Thursday through the weekend. I will attend the conference and I am also scheduled to serve as a Keynote Speaker.

Please be reminded that the February Board Meeting will be held Tuesday, February 28, 2017 at 9:00 a.m.

In closing, I hope you enjoy this issue of The Connector and I hope you have an enjoyable weekend.

Eric Sheninger to Lead Workshop on Digital Leadership and Social Media

On Monday, February 20, Eric Sheninger will lead a workshop at HCDE entitled “Digital Leadership and The Power of Personal Learning Networks.” Named by TIME magazine for having one of the 140 Best Twitter Feeds in 2014, Eric Sheninger helps educators harness the power of social media to improve communications and increase student engagement. The workshop is part of the leadership-based Speaker Series hosted by HCDE’s Teaching and Learning Center.

The educational landscape is changing as a result of continuous advances in technology and changing learners. As a result, educators must recognize this shift and lead by example in order to meet the diverse needs of key stakeholders in the 21st Century.

Personal Learning Networks (PLN’s) have been around for centuries and can be defined as relationships that individuals leverage for learning. Attendees will learn how 21st Century educators can utilize the Internet and Web 2.0 tools (microblogging services, social networking websites, social bookmarking tools, RSS feed readers, tablet apps, and digital discussion forums) to create their PLN’s and customize their “always-on” learning networks to better prepare and understand the Common Core Standards, college & career readiness, technology integration, engaging learners, and effective leadership strategies.

Safe and Secure Schools Director Shares Tips to Prevent against Cyberbullying

As part of Safer Internet Day, HCDE's Center for Safe and Secure Schools Director Ecomet Burley shared five tips about how students can be better citizens of the internet and avoid falling victim to online harassment.

- 1. Don't respond. If someone bullies you, remember that your reaction is usually exactly what the bully wants. It gives him or her power over you. Who wants to empower a bully?
- 2. Don't retaliate. Getting back at the bully turns you into one and reinforces the bully's behavior. Help avoid a cycle of aggression.
- 3. Talk to a trusted adult. You deserve backup. It's always good to involve a parent but – if you can't – a school counselor usually knows how to help. Sometimes both are necessary. If you're really nervous about saying something, see if there's a way to report the incident anonymously at school.
- 4. Be civil. Even if you don't like someone, it's a good idea to be decent and not sink to the other person's level. Also, research shows that gossiping about and trash talking others increases your risk of being bullied. Treat people the way you want to be treated.
- 5. Be a friend, not a bystander. Watching or forwarding mean messages empowers bullies and hurts victims even more. If you can, tell bullies to stop or let them know harassment makes people look stupid and mean. If you can't stop the bully, at least try to help the victim and report the behavior.

On Wednesday, April 19, the Center for Safe and Secure Schools will host a cyberbullying workshop. Melissa Rangel, bilingual case manager for the Texas Center for the Missing, will focus on enhancing communication between parents and children about online safety.

Head Start Hosts Annual Parent/Child Food Science Fair

Head Start hosted its annual Parent/Child Food Science Fair this week at each of its Head Start centers. Judges at each center selected a dish to move forward in the competition and be named the top recipe at the Policy Council Meeting next Monday night.

The Food Science Fair ignites creativity and fuels education about nutrition as students and their families select a fruit or vegetable and create a healthy dish. This year, the first place entry went to Tidwell's Galilea Lazcano with her Strawberry Balsamic Pizza with Chicken.

Baytown Head Start Center student Adrian Lucatero competed with help from his grandmother Odelia Cabrera. Their recipe for avocado salsa included tomatoes, peppers and garlic, and featured all fresh ingredients.

"I think this event is important because it's fun and teaches children about eating healthy," said Cabrera.

Like many of the students who participate in the Food Science Fair, Lucatero was involved from the beginning.

"He loves helping out with recipes, not only for this event, but during meals at home," Cabrera explains. "He wants to be a chef when he grows up."

Other winning entries in the Food Science Fair included Pazole de Pollo Verde, a Watermelon Cake and Guacamole.

COMMUNITY CONNECTIONS

Houston City Council Members Gather for CASE for Kids City Connections Networking, Photo Opportunity February 23

Last year's CASE for Kids City Connections photo opportunity was held at City Hall.

Several CASE for Kids City Connections nonprofits and Houston City Council members will gather February 23 from 9 a.m.-1 p.m. at 6300 Irvington, room 400, to celebrate the successes of the program that brought $45,000 from the city of Houston to afterschool through each council district. Area afterschool providers will be on hand to receive their “big checks” through a photo opportunity.

The funding provides services from October 31 through March 31 and totaled $550,000. Awards for each organization in council district communities ranged from $4,000-$10,000.

Each council member is provided 20 minutes for the photo shoot to include organizations they are partnering with through City Connections.

Whole Kids Foundation Grant of $2,000 to Fund Garden at AB School East

A school garden is in the works at Academic and Behavior School East as the campus was recently awarded a $2,000 School Garden Grant from the Whole Kids Foundation. The goal of the program is to promote health literacy and healthy lifestyles for 75 students and their families. By growing fruits and vegetables, students will gain a better understanding of where their food comes from, gain more positive food attitudes, and work cooperatively in groups to produce results.

Education Foundation of Harris County is a partner and will serve as the fiscal sponsor of this grant.

For more information on the Whole Kids Foundation School Garden Grant, visit <https://goo.gl/YEmSbj>.

Community Relations

In accordance with the Board's goals for me to

- Establish and maintain a program of public relations to keep the public well-informed of the activities of the Department, affecting a wholesome and cooperative working relationship between the Department and community; and
- Work with other governmental entities and community organizations to meet the needs of students and the community

This week, the Head Start division hosted its annual Parent/Child Food Science Fair event at each of its Head Start centers. Judges at each center selected a dish to move up in the competition. The winning entry and its recipe will be announced at the February Policy Council Meeting next week.

This event stirs up creativity and educates students and their families about the importance of eating healthy meals.

By hosting this event, I am working towards achieving the Board's expectations of me to

- Maintain HCDE's visibility and involvement in the community through the support of programs such as these that so greatly impact the early childhood and school-readiness arena.
